Dancing Academies.

A. DODWORTH'S DANCING ACADEMIES,
No. 305 BROADWAY, NEW-YORK.
No. 137 MONTAGUE PLACE. BROOKLYN.
Clauses will commence First Wesk in October, or immediately after Mr. Dodworth's return from Europe.
Mr. DODWORTH would take occasion to say that he has long felt the necessity of introducing a system of instruction for the use of the younger pupils by which the exercise of Danomy would be of more benefit physically, and more neeful in the development of graceful movement, than it has been of late years. The facility with which the Folks and similar dances of the present time are acquired has induced many to neglect those exerciaes that were formerly indispensable. To that neglect, as one of the causes, may be attributed the appearance of so many round-shouldened young misses in the present spensition. They are sent to achool, and allowed to scoop over their deaks without intermediate exercise, until the growing frame assumes the position in which it has so long been restrained; they are then sent to achool, and allowed to scoop over their deaks without intermediate exercise, until the growing frame assumes the position in which it has so long been restrained; they are then sent to a teacher of dancing, with the expectation that by learning the Polka, Schottisch and a few other dances all this would be remedied, and they would at once become graceful women. Surely these things should be better understood. Were children sent to dancing early in life, at intervals during their secessary studies, and the teacher allowed to exercise them in such a manner end is such dances, in addition to the fashion-able ones, as would add grace to the figure, wait and every movement, then something would be gained omisistent with the struce of this evaluable accomplishment. Anxions to restore the art to its former usefulness, Mr. Dodworth instructed his classes in that acknowledged graceful study, the Minued classes in that acknowledged graceful study, the Minued classes in that acknowledged graceful study, the Minued classes of this co
